Republican County Convention.

The republicans of Dakota county, Nebraska, are hereby called to meet in convention at the court house in Dakota City, on Saturday, July 22, 1916, at 2:30 o'clock, p. m., for the purpose of selecting eight delegates to attend the republican state convention to be held in Lincoln on July 25th, at 11 o'clock, a. m., and for the purpose of transacting such other business as may properly come before the convention. The representation will be based on the vote cast for Hon. R. B. Howell for governor in 1914, allowing one delegate for each ten votes or major fraction thereof, which will entitle the several precincts representation as follows:

Hubbard	5
Emerson	4
Omadi	14
Dakota	13
Covington	15
St. Johns	2
Summit	1
Pigeon Creek	3

It is hereby recommended that the several precincts of the county hold their precinct caucuses for the election of delegates to the county convention and for the nomination of precinct officers on Saturday, July 15, 1916, at 3:30 o'clock, p. m.

J. J. Eimers, Chairman.

Democrat Mass Convention

The democrats of Dakota county are hereby called to meet in mass convention at the court house in Dakota City on Saturday, July 22, 1916, at 2 p. m., for the purpose of electing delegates to attend the state convention and for the transaction of any other business that may properly come before the convention.

Thomas Ashford, Chairman.
D. G. Evans, Secretary.

Lutheran Church Notes

DAKOTA CITY-SALEM

Yes, the Immanuel's Ladies' Aid lawn party at the parsonage was a success. It was not such a rouser because of numbers for there was not such a great number there. Too many could have a successful prayermeeting, where a large number might miss the spirit of it. Somewhat depends on the aim of the gathering. In part the ladies aimed at goodfellowship and sociability, and they certainly had a good time, and what was more there was an appetizing supper. No one, or no supper could get out the numbers if the folks rather stay home. That is a matter strictly up to each one for himself. The pleasure is provided and if you don't take it in, it is not the fault of the arrangements.

That is the way with the salvation of so many. The king made a wedding for his son and bade many and when the time arrived none of the guests would come. They had other things to do. None of them could come later for the wedding was already filled with guests. The church is in our midst and is calling out your activity and cooperation. If you withhold it it is a loss to the church and you, but mostly your loss. The wedding was filled with guests. The supper was not postponed, the places were filled with other guests, that is all. God's work among the people will not perish from the world, it will move right along, but our place will be filled by some one else and we will be shut out. Read this parable, Luke 10:15-29. The way of the carnal is to withhold ourselves, the way of the spirit is to give ourselves and enjoy the fellowship of the people of God.

How many men appreciate a good hand, one faithful to your work against odds, dependable whether you are home or not. Sure, all of us do. God also appreciates faithfulness against odds, even by self-sacrifice. You are willing to pay good wages to such a man. God adds many a blessing to those who serve Him in preference to self. What is the term of this life as compared to that of eternal life, and how much better to please God than self in the long run, and then there is a real joy in the service of God, a pleasure in making Christ "the head of the corner."

July 30 we will celebrate at the churches the Holy Communion. This ought to be a glad day with us. We will make it so.

The Salem Ladies' Aid will meet Thursday, July 27, at Mrs. Milton Forehoe's home. The serving committee is Mrs. Theo. McGlashan, Mrs. S. A. Bridenbaugh, Mrs. Chas. Heikes and Mrs. Forehoe. Meet at 2 p. m.

County Agent's Field Notes.

BY A. H. BECKHOFF.

Within the last few weeks several cases of bloating have come to my attention, incident to the pasturing cattle on sweet clover and at least three of these cases were accompanied by losses of animals. This simply confirms my belief that while clover is not as dangerous as alfalfa and clover, yet its use as a pasture crop is attended with quite a serious risk. Its value as a rejuvenator of soils on worn out land is well recognized, but as a hay crop its importance is questionable, if now it fails to come up, as a pasture crop, it certainly merits serious reflection before sowing.

In this section of the country, for the most part, the pig crop in point of numbers has been very promising, yet in a great many cases the quality, if I may use the term, is very disappointing. There are very few herds of pigs but what are wormy and whose vitality is very low. There are enough good remedies now a days (hand mixed and commercial) so that it would seem that this condition was unnecessary.

Among many herds of young hogs can also be found necrotic enteritis slowly eating the life out of the herd and lowering their vitality. This disease in its ante-mortem lesions and symptoms closely resembles cholera and is often treated for this, needless to say with disappointing results. Post mortem diagnosis quite differentiates enteritis from cholera. So far as my personal observation is concerned in cases of necrotic enteritis, the most successful treatment is isolation and sanitary sanitation with suitable diet or change of feed.

Looking Backward.

Sioux City Journal, July 16, 1876: The Dakota City Mail of the 14th prints an excellent history of Dakota county, prepared by William Adair. The first settlement of the county was in 1855; the first building was erected in March, 1856; the United States land office was opened in March, 1857, the first store was opened in 1857; the Catholics organized the first church in the county, at St. Johns, in 1856; the first newspaper, the Omadi Enterprise, was started in 1857, by George Rust, now of the Stock Journal, Chicago.

Sioux City Journal, July 16, 1896: J. W. Fern, a live stock dealer of Dakota City, Neb., says the oat harvest in Dakota county has started somewhat earlier than usual. Fields were rusting so badly the farmers were compelled to cut the crop before it was ruined. When the harvesters come out of the fields, he said, one could take his hands and scrape off great handfuls of rust. Corn is looking exceptionally fine, and wheat shows no indication of rust.

Sioux City Journal, July 19, 1876: The Sioux City baseball club, consisting of Messrs. Stone, Hicks, W. Parke, H. A. Parke, Allen, Macreedy, Little, Myers and Page, went over to Dakota City yesterday and played the "Huskies" a return game. The latter team was manned by Messrs. Maher, C. Ream, M. Ream, Bell, Joyce, Ayres, Stott, and Cummings. The game was called about 3:30 o'clock and the ninth inning was completed about 5:30 o'clock. The game was a hot one and closely contested. The outcome was a victory for the Sioux by a score of 11 to 10.

BOOZE AND WATER FOUNTAINS.

In Lincoln a rich man presented a fine water fountain to the city, and it was placed at a street intersection.

That street has become the favorite drive for automobilists, and the fountain turns out to be an obstruction, especially to those who drive at a rapid clip.

It has already caused the death of one person and the injury of several others because of automobiles colliding with it.

Significant is the fact that in practically every accident the drivers and occupants of the cars had been drinking.

There is now a public agitation to have the fountain removed, so as to avoid future accidents at that point.

The same people should be equally strenuous in agitating the removal of the other cause of the accidents,—booze. And they should insist on a law that would say that a man too drunk to see a thirty-foot obstruction in the middle of the street is not a fit man to drive an automobile there.

It is a grim sort of humor, anyway, for a city to accept water fountains from men who own saloons.

Notice

There are many reliable farm papers issued nowadays that supply the farmers and stockmen with cashable and workable ideas, but the best suited to the farmers of this section is Farmer and Breeder. It is issued semi-monthly at Sioux City, Ia., and is intensely interesting and practical. It regularly carries veterinary, dairy, poultry, horticulture, home and fashion departments in addition to market and live stock news. The special feature stories about successful farmers and breeders give many valuable hints, suggestions, and lessons that any intelligent farmer can apply with profit.
